lives of the engineers Boulton and Watt the steam engine and transport by Samuel Smiles originally published in 1904 a detailed history of the two famous engineers James Watt and Matthew Boulton with details of their inventions and work much emphasis on the steam engine early life of James Watt James Watt his birthplace and lineage Glasgow in 1754 early knowledge of the power of steam Robinson and Watt's conferences on the power of steam Watt's introduction to Dr Roebuck Birmingham in early times water and horse power at Soho characteristics of Matthew Boulton Watt's house Harpers Hill inefficiency of the Newcomen pumping engines Lieutenant Henderson in Cornwall Watt again visits Cornwall financial position of the firm Boulton's action in commercial politics friends of Boulton and Watt increasing debasement of the coinage prosperity of Soho Watt withdraws from Soho Watt's closing years many of the earliest books particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive home farm books are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern editions using the original text and artwork

unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 we have not used OCR (optical character recognition) as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 in books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc we have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy this 1939 work gives deserved recognition to the achievements of the engineer and businessman matthew boulton boulton s importance has generally been overshadowed by that of his partner james watt but he was a significant figure in his own right particularly in relation to the soho foundry and his production of coins and medals he belonged to a network of highly significant men of the period including josiah wedgwood erasmus darwin and benjamin franklin and was a founding member of the lunar society of birmingham an engineer by profession h w dickinson researched widely and published highly readable works on the history of the steam engine watt and trevithick also reissued in this series he succeeds in producing a work which appeals to the scientist the historian and the general reader without feeling obliged to over simplify the technical details this is a reproduction of a book published before 1923 this book may have occasional imperfections such as missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc that were either part of the original artifact or were introduced by the scanning process we believe this work is culturally important and despite the imperfections have elected to bring it back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide we appreciate your understanding of the imperfections in the preservation process and hope you enjoy this valuable book
